Following the publication of this article, we (the authors) realized that the text contained a couple of errors, which are detailed as follows. First, the fifth sentence in the Abstract ('NK cells were isolated from the patient's own peripheral blood mononuclear cells...') should have read as 'NK cells were isolated from the donor's peripheral blood mononuclear cells...'. Secondly, the second sentence in the Discussion ('... by the above-mentioned KIR-HLA genotyping kit revealed that the patient's KIRs were mismatched with her own HLA') should have read as '...by the above-mentioned KIR-HLA genotyping kit revealed that the patient's KIRs were mismatched with the donor's HLA.'

We sincerely apologize for these errors, and regret any confusion this may have caused.
