Subsequently to the publication of the above article, it has been noted that the article was erroneously classified as a 'Review' on the Journal's website and in Web of Science [as denoted by the inclusion of "(Review)" at the end of the title]. Although this retrospective analysis of 89 cases of peripheral primitive neuroectodermal tumors does include a review of the literature, the article, in itself, is not a review-type article. This error in the classification of the article type occurred during the pre-press stages.
